

Sharing session on Creative Arts (Visual) Resources for Children & Youth

This open sharing session will explain and demonstrate the principles involved in using visual resources that counsellors and social workers can use during intervention sessions with their clients. It is especially useful for work with clients who are not verbal and are unable to express themselves effectively.

The sharing session will cover the following:

- The role that creative arts play in making counselling/ social work principles accessible to clients with multiple intelligences.
- The demonstration of a broad range of possible applications of Visual tools in engaging and working with clients.
- The application of Visual Resources in Career Guidance, Social Emotional Learning (SEL) Group Work, Life Span Planning and Grief & loss.
